By

DR. M. DOREAL

I have received hundreds of letters asking the questions I have attempted to answer in this book. It has been impossible to answer each individually for I could not possibly have enough time to write five or six hundred letters, each requiring several pages, and do all the other work I have to do. I have tried to answer the most important and necessary questions so that you will know what to do in an emergency.

For many years I have studied the prophetic writings in the Bible as well as the works of later prophets, such as Nostradamus and many others. I have delved deeply into the law of cause and effect and its influence on individuals, races and nations. I have studied the geology of the earth, earthquake faults, pressures, and many related subjects. I am familiar with the principles which cause land masses to rise and fall. From these and other sources, I have drawn the material which I will correlate in this book. If you follow the advice given, you have a very good chance for survival, no matter where you may be.

The Brotherhood Newsletter

Dear Students and Friends:

Shamballa residents are enjoying the beautiful Indian Summer weather with the vivid autumn colors of Fall. It is really a most delightful time of year.

As is usual this time of year, we have had numerous visits from our animal friends. A brown bear looking for honey found some bee hives. A call to the Game Warden resulted in a trapped bear. Mr. Bruin was loaded into a truck and taken to a distant isolated area free from the harm of civilization. Mountain lions, wolves and fox also have been seen recently in Shamballa, as well as the many deer and smaller animals. Often they come seeking water during the dry season.

The next Minister's Lesson is in the process of being edited and prepared for publication.

Dr. Iris Rawls had charge of the Sunday evening Services. The subject of her talk was on 'The Great White Lodge'. This is always an interesting and informative subject.

'The Great White Lodge' so often referred to in Occult literature, is only a legend to the average student, nevertheless it exists. It is not a Lodge in the sense of a Masonic Lodge. It is a group of Illuminated people, in whom the God-presence has manifested in perfection. There are one hundred forty-four of these Masters in the Great White Lodge. Each Master has ten Chelas. These Great Adepts work from higher spiritual planes to guide and aid the student who has made himself ready for such aid.

Shamballa is the name most often used in referring to the Central Headquarters of the Great White Lodge. It is located in Tibet under Lhassa, in a space under the mountains. It was existent before the Himalayan Mountains were formed. Quoting Dr. Doreal's words, "Shamballa is literally a place. I have been in Shamballa."

The Brotherhood of the White Temple is an agent for the Great White Lodge in hidden Shamballa, whose authority we acknowledge in all things. Our work, our wisdom and our knowledge comes from them. The Great Masters are GUIDES of man, but man must work in harmony with their purpose to make contact with them.

In Cosmic Harmony,

Dr. W. Whitby

THE INNER EARTH

By

DR. M. DOREAL

(Part One)

Few there are who know anything of the earth more than a few miles below the surface. The deepest holes that man has dug goes but little more than two miles down. Yet, we know many of the strange things that manifest on the surface are caused by unknown forces and elements from below.

In this article I am going to give you some of the secrets of what is known to Occultists, as the Inner Earth. Consider, as we have said, that man knows only a few thousand feet of the thousands of miles of the earth's thickness, and yet this is the closest realm of exploration to every man.

When we have learned the true facts concerning the earth, many of the things that science is still able only to theorize about will be explained. You will understand what electricity is a manifestation of; you will understand the cause of gravitation; you will understand what causes the formation of metals in the earth; you will understand how the planets hold their positions around the sun. Many other mysteries of nature will be explained.

You must first know that the earth is not the solid mass that some scientists believe, nor does it have a semi-solid center beginning a few miles below the surface. Sometime ago, the Rev. J. B. MacElwane of St. Louis University, told the Seismological Society of America that a study of the South Pacific earthquake of 1924, revealed that the core of the earth is solid.

It might be of interest to us to examine the two major scientific theories concerning the formation of the earth. We will first state briefly La Place's Nebular Hypothesis. In the first place we observe that all the planets move around the sun from west to east, and almost in the same plane; all the satellites move around their primaries in the same direction and almost in the same plane as the planets; and finally, the sun, the planets and the satellites, whose rotations have been observed, turn on their axis in the same direction, and nearly in the same plane of their revolutions in their orbits.

According to this hypothesis there was originally only what is known as a solar atmosphere, or highly diffused nebula in all space. This is considered to have been symmetrical about an axis nearly perpendicular to the plane of the ecliptic, since it is described as extending beyond the orbits of all the planets and as bearing some resemblance to Saturn's rings. The motion of the nebula is stated to have been only one of rotation and it is not made clear whether the periods of revolution of all parts of the nebula were the same, or whether, as would seem possible, the inner parts would revolve more quickly than the outer. This inner axis was what is now the sun and was a part of the nebula in a more condensed state. This outer nebula condensed slowly and its rotation became faster and faster.

LaPlace assumes that this system is unaffected by outside disturbances. As the rotation became faster, centrifugal force became insufficient to hold the outermost portions in contact with the remainder. When this becomes so, they will be left behind, rupture will take place at this stage, unless it has previously taken place in some other way.

Given some rotation to start with, the advances of condensation will necessarily tend to produce some kind of rupture. It may happen that the nebula will become liquid or solid before conditions suitable for rupture are reached; condensation will cease and rupture will be postponed indefinitely. A certain minimum, angular motion is therefore necessary to produce ultimate rupture in any given mass. But supposing such an amount of angular to be avoidable, rupture is certain to occur before the whole mass has been absorbed into the central body. It may take place at an earlier stage than is indicated by the theory just given. Those portions that were detached, condensed more and more until they become the planets; what was left gradually condensed into the central sun.

CONCENTRATION AND RELAXATION

BY

DR. M. DOREAL

Concentration and relaxation are two of the things which every student must develop before they can go very far in occult work because without the ability to concentrate and without the ability to relax it is absolutely impossible for one to carry out many of the occult experiments that from time to time are given.

Thoughts are not your mind, or even the actions of your mind. Thought originates from more than one source.

In this booklet Dr. Doreal has given an analysis of how the mind operates and how it must be used if one is to concentrate properly.
